Orientation and Competency

The Guide serves as a valuable resource for orienting nurses new to ambulatory care as well as developing comprehensive competency assessment programs. A wide selection of age-specific and specialty care topics are covered, including telehealth. The Guide contains chapters on nurse educator competencies, defining the educator’s role in ambulatory care and providing guidance and tools for use in developing needed competency. An appendix containing sample orientation and competency tools will help you develop your own tools to orient or evaluate your staff.

Care Coordination and Transition Management (CCTM) Core Curriculum text, 2014

The CCTM Core text covers 13 dimensions, competencies, and activities. There is an introduction chapter dedicated to the transition from acute care to ambulatory care and the critical nature of hand-offs in ensuring patient safety and quality of care. Two chapters are devoted to technologies that provide decision support and information systems for all dimensions of care coordination and transition management: one focused on informatics and one focused on telehealth nursing practice. The text is evidence-based and is organized to include definitions, learning outcomes and objectives, a table of knowledge, skills, and attitudes (KSA), and nationally recognized core competencies for quality and safety education for nurses (QSEN), inter-professional collaborative practice, and public health nursing competencies. The text is written for nurses in all settings; from ambulatory care to hospitals, extended care facilities to student nurses. The Core is the background for AAACN’s CCTM Course, which offers 26.4 contact hours.

Certification Exam

AAACN collaborated with the Medical-Surgical Nursing Certification Board (MSNCB) on the Certified in Care Coordination and Transition Management (CCTCM) exam. Learn more at msncb.org/cctcmexam.
Scope and Standards of Practice for Registered Nurses in Care Coordination and Transition Management, 2015

This new resource provides the first scope and standards of practice for registered nurses in a relatively new role, care coordination and/or transition management (CCTM). While these roles have been evolving over the past 25 years, there has never been formal identification, excellence in the coordination of care and is written as a resource for both acute and ambulatory care nurses. The Standards address both the clinical dimension and the management dimension of CCTM, and may be used as a tool to advance professional care coordination and/or transition management nurses practice, patient and population health, and the performance outcomes of health care institutions.

Core Curriculum for Ambulatory Care Nursing, 3rd Edition, 2013

The Core Curriculum for Ambulatory Care Nursing, 3rd edition, has been updated from cover to cover, as things change rapidly in this professional nursing specialty. Content has been revised and enhanced, and reflects the new test content addressed in the ANCC ambulatory care nursing certification exam. The 4th edition contains 179 multiple choice test questions grouped into five domains of practice corresponding to those on the exam: Clinical Practice, Communication, Issues and Trends, Systems, and Education. All of the questions are based on and referenced to the Core Curriculum for Ambulatory Care Nursing. 3rd edition. Using the Core Curriculum as the companion to this set of review questions is highly recommended. Use the Review Questions to test your knowledge prior to taking the certification exam as well as identify areas of further study.
